Darren is passionate about providing the very best educational experiences for all students. In doing so, he brings strategic thinking and data-driven decision-making as well as a collaborative, inclusive, and respectful way of working that brings out the best in all employees. His leadership approach encourages, empowers, and expects everyone to lead from where they stand and contribute to the learning and work outcomes of the school division. He is a trusted advisor to the Board of Education and colleague to many across the Division.

Board Chair Tara Molson said, "We are excited as Mr. Boldt assumes the Director of Education/CEO position and confident in his leadership of Regina Public Schools. The Board looks forward to the opportunity to work with him on key Board priorities including our relationships with Indigenous people, diversity and inclusion, mental health and well-being, and achievement for all students."

"I have built my career in Regina Public Schools and know first-hand the incredible dedication, skill and commitment of the more than 3,000 employees who serve our 25,000 students. I firmly believe that everything we do and every decision we make in Regina Public Schools must have the student at the centre. Our team is strong and ready to face the challenges that lie ahead in public education." said Boldt.

On behalf of the Board, congratulations to Darren Boldt, and to each and every Regina Public School Division employee in classrooms, offices and workspaces throughout the Division, thank you and all the best for an outstanding 2022-23 school year.
